Surfacing work will cause road disruption

DRIVERS will face diversions and disruption as road works and closures start on a busy high street in the Black Country.

Resurfacing work on Quarry bank High Street will begin at the end of this month and will last for two weeks.

Work on the A4100 will take place between the roundabout at Park Road and the Dudley borough boundary at Cradley Forge and will include the installation of a new 20mph zone in the vicinity of Quarry Bank Primary School.

Busiest

It will begin on July 28 and motorists travelling towards Merry Hill and Brierley Hill will face disruption as the road will be closed on weekdays between 9.30am and 3.30pm.

The road will be kept open to traffic coming from Merry Hill and Brierley Hill heading towards Cradley.

A full overnight closure is also planned for August 1 when a section of the road, from the roundabout at Park Road to Queen Street, will be laid overnight.

Transport boss Councillor Khurshid Ahmed said: "It is one of the busiest roads in the borough but it needs resurfacing and the disruption will be worth it in the end."

Temporary crime role

A TEMPORARY police and crime commissioner for the West Midlands has been appointed in the wake of the death of Bob Jones, amid criticism of a by-election being tabled in just over a month.

Labour's Yvonne Mosquito, deputy PCC, was formally appointed to take the reins until a by-election on August 21 but she will not take the role permanently as Labour's candidate for the role is former Solihull councillor and Plymouth MP David Jamieson.

CHANCELLOR'S HOSPITAL VOW

CHANCELLOR George Osborne has pledged investment in Rowley Regis Hospital despite also giving the green light to a £353 million 'super hospital' for the Black Country.

Rowley Regis Hospital will see its role in providing non-acute community care expanded.

The announcement came as the Chancellor visited Rowley Regis Hospital, part of Sandwell and West Birmingham Hospitals NHS Trust.

Meanwhile, the 670-bed acute Midland Metropolitan Hospital in Grove Lane, Smethwick, has been on the cards for a decade.

It has been hit by delays amid a shake-up of the controversial private finance initiative, which funds new buildings but mounts up debts over many years.

Treasury

The hospital is due to take up 16 acres on Grove Lane but a further 31 acres of land between Grove Lane, Cranford Street, Heath Street and Dugdale Street is to be transformed and filled with business and housing schemes.

On Monday it was announced that the Treasury is providing £100m to the scheme, with the rest raised from private investment.

Halesowen and Rowley Regis MP James Morris wrote to the Chancellor in 2012 asking for the Treasury to back the new hospital.

Mr Osborne said: "This ambitious package will ensure that patients across the West Midlands continue to benefit from access to world-class acute treatment and cutting-edge facilities."

"It is because of the difficult decisions we have taken as a Government that we have been able to protect healthcare spending, and announce new facilities.

By Daniel Wainwright

"The hospital is going to be a fantastic addition to the community and will meet needs for decades to come."

The Chancellor said the announcement showed a dramatic turnaround in the fortunes of Rowley Regis Hospital, which had been under threat but will now see its role in providing community care increased.

Mr Osborne continued: "We will invest in hospitals like Rowley Regis here. This is proof that we are committed to the NHS and that we have a long-term economic plan which makes investment like this possible. Four years ago this hospital was facing the closure of its wards. Now we have wards open and staff are really excited about the future."

Construction of the new hospital is expected to start in 2016 and be completed by 2018-19.

Richard Samuda, Chairman of Sandwell and West Birmingham Hospitals said: "The Chancellor's announcement at Rowley Regis Hospital reinforces our strategy of local care for long term conditions and a single specialist acute centre at the Midland Met."

Daisy-Mae Little is a huge internet hit

Daisy-Mae Little and her doting dad Wayne, a Brierley Hill firefighter, with the snap that became an internet sensation

IT'S a heart warming picture of a daddy cuddling up to his baby daughter.

This snapshot of Daisy-Mae Little and doting father Wayne has become an internet sensation.

More than 2,500 people have liked the picture, while an incredible 15,000 now follow Daisy-Mae's exploits on her Facebook page.

Wayne updates the page regularly with pictures and messages.

His daughter weighed just 11b 13 oz when she was born and had to receive specialist neo-natal care.

More than half a year later and she is going from strength to strength.

Her 42-year-old firefighter father from Brierley Hill, said he initially kept the Facebook diary as a way of updating family and friends.

He said: "Daisy-Mae finally made it to the top of her mountain and I'm so proud of her."

Coping

"My way of coping was to write a diary to her. A diary from your daddy to the girl who couldn't wait. But then I realised how concerned our family and friends were, so I began writing one on Facebook too, so everyone could see how she was doing."

"We now had people from all over the world sending their thoughts and prayers which helped us to stay positive. I don't know how we would've coped without them. We've even been sent presents from all over the UK and from people around the world including Canada and Australia."

"Midwives, professors and students are now using Daisy-Mae's journey to help educate other women and mothers about premature babies."

His blog, coupled with a diary, is being turned into a book, due for release on September 13 to coincide with Daisy-Mae's christening.

Brook goes on camera for flood warning

A CAMERA system has been installed at a flooding hotspot to warn residents of rising water levels.

The Environment Agency has positioned CCTV cameras and sensors in the Illey Brook in Halesowen.

The £2,875 system will monitor water levels and alert residents at risk through an automated phone call.

People can also follow the camera observations via social media app Twitter.

The investment follows resident's fears over flooding. In 2008, water from the brook swamped homes in Woodman Road, Halesmere Way and Honeybourne Road.

Environment Agency project manager Jamie Sarginson said: "Both the Environment Agency and Dudley Metropolitan Borough Council have been working closely with the Illey Brook Flood Committee to investigate ways to make the community more flood resilient - and this new camera goes a long way to achieving that goal."

Images will also be on a website run by Vision Link, which created the system.

Residents were told defences, such as walls and embankments, would cost £2.4 million, which the Environment Agency said was not financially viable.

Fire call outs despite strike

THERE were two call outs for firefighters in Dudley during their nationwide strike on Monday.

Members of the Fire Brigades Union in the region staged two walk outs during which time there were a total of 13 incidents across the West Midlands Fire Service area.

Non-striking staff were called to a road accident in Cinder Road, Lower Gornal, just after 6am and a car fire in Garratt Street, Brierley Hill, just before 7am.

Jail for burglar with appalling record

A PROLIFIC burglar who stole jewellery and cash from a pensioner has been jailed for three-and-a-half years.

Paul Mainwood, aged 35, of Har-old Road, Rowley Regis, admitted his part in a distraction burglary at a house in Sandon near Stafford. The haul included an 83-year-old's engagement ring, a gold locket, sov-ereign chain, and around £40 cash.

Miss Heather Chamberlin told Stafford Crown Court that the elderly woman had been garden-ing when the defendant asked her about a dog.

"She then saw that the front door was open, went upstairs and found that the drawers of a bedside cabi-net were on the floor and contents emptied on the floor. Missing was some very sentimental jewellery."

The victim noticed a mark on the wall and after swabbing it police found traces of Mainwood's DNA.

At first Mainwood denied being involved but later pleaded guilty claiming to have been part of a distraction and giving gloves to an accomplice who then entered the woman's house. The offence took place just months after the defend-ant had been released from prison.

He had 13 convictions for house burglaries.

Sentencing Mainwood, Recorder Ed Peppercall took into account five other offences and said: "I am told you are remorseful and talked about rehabilitation. I am afraid I take that with a huge pinch of salt. I see no evidence in your appalling rec-ord to suggest any remorsefulness is genuine"

Free travel passes for jobseekers in £3m deal

JOBSEEKERS will get free travel passes as part of a £3 million transport deal for the Black Country.

It also hoped the funding will create 6,000 new cy-clists, add an extra 5.5 million trips on public trans-port each year and cut car journeys by 22.9 million kilometres a year.

The £3,057,000 government funding will be used by transport authority Centro and Dudley, Sandwell, Wal-sall and Wolverhampton councils.

Schemes will include free travel passes and cy-cling support for jobseek-ers, travel advice for school leavers starting education, training or new jobs, travel support for students and staff at secondary schools, colleges and universities, as well as bespoke travel support for households and businesses.

Bucket and spade fun at Himley

THE Black Country may be miles from the nearest seafont but for children in Dudley the beach is coming to them this summer.

Himley Hall and Park will be creating a slice of the seaside in landlocked Dudley with 120 tonnes of sand where families can bring along their bucket and spade.

Councillor Hilary Bills, cabinet member for envi-ronment and culture, said: "The Himley Beach has been a favourite attraction at our under-5s' fun day for several years.

"We thought it would be a special treat for local children and families if we kept the beach throughout the summer, all they have to do is bring their bucket and spade for a lovely fun day out."

Families can also enjoy refreshments at the Oak Tea Room which is open most Sundays from 2pm to 4.30pm.

There will be free band concerts throughout the summer, including the Black Country Ukelele Players this Sunday and Cleobury Mortimer Concert Brass band performing on August 3.

Both events are free and take place from 2.30pm.

Vulnerable

There will also be free adult cycle training and bus and HGV driver training focussed on vulnerable road users including cyclists. The initiatives start next year.

The project involves the creation of new cycle routes, upgrades to traffic junctions and free travel advice for residents.

Councillor Judith Rowley, Centro's sustainable trans-port guru, said: "This new funding will allow us to con-tinue these schemes which reduce the congestion cost-ing our region more than £2 billion a year, as well as making sure our residents are well connected to jobs, education and training."

The schemes are the re-sult of close collaboration between Centro, the four Black Country councils and the Local Enterprise Part-nership (LEP), which in-cludes local business people and politicians. It is tasked with drawing up initiatives that can bring economic growth and create jobs.

Bishop backs credit union

The bishop with finance boss Councillor Stuart Turner and credit unit assistant Natalie Poole

THE Bishop of Dudley has opened a Credit Union account as part of the Church's com-mitment to affordable finance.

The Rt Rev Graham Usher visited the Castle & Crystal Credit Union branch in New Street on July 7. The Bishop's visit fol-lows a commitment by the Church of Eng-land to proactively support credit unions as an alternative affordable financial service.

Mr Usher, who was recently made bishop, said: "Credit Unions can provide a real al-ternative for people in need of affordable financial services, giving them somewhere to turn and helping them to make ends meet.

"As a diocese, we have already invested some of our Social Responsibility Fund money into the Castle & Crystal Union and I'm delighted to open a personal account. I hope that this will continue to raise the profile of credit unions and encourage more people to get involved."

Credit unions are not-for-profit financial co-operatives. See www.castleandcrystal.co.uk or call 01384 815771.

People fled the scene of car crashes

FOUR people fled two cars after two crashes in the Black Country.

Staffordshire Police brought in the force helicop-ter to try and find three peo-ple who absconded from one of the cars in an accident near Sedgley.

Two cars crashed in Wo-dehouse Lane, Gospel End, shortly after midnight, in the early hours of Monday, leaving both with significant damage.

A man inside one of the cars had to be cut free by crews from Dudley and Bil-ston fire stations. He was taken to Russells Hall Hos-pital.

Three people in the sec-ond car left the scene before emergency services arrived.

Fire crews made the ve-hicles safe before helping with the clear up.

Meanwhile, a driver abandoned a car after it overturned and landed on a grass verge in another crash.

The Ford hatchback ended up on its roof in Han-over Road, Rowley Regis at about 8.30pm on Sunday

When fire crews arrived the driver was not there. Onlookers said they had fled the scene.

The road was blocked for about half an hour.

Three in court on theft charges

Police were called to Halesowen Project for the Elderly on Queensway on May 27. The lead involved has been valued at £500.

The three men will appear before the court again on October 6.

More than 100 theft reports on railways

MORE than 110 thefts of passenger property were reported at railways in the Black Country and parts of Staffordshire over the past 18 months, new figures show.

A total of 112 thefts were reported to British Transport Police in 18 months.

Around 82 of these took place in 2013, with a further 32 in the first six months of this year.

They were reported on trains in what is known as the Wolverhampton sector, which has stations including Bloxwich, Tipton, Wolverhampton, Coseley, Hednesford and Stafford.

British Transport Police are currently running Operation Magnum in a bid to crackdown on the problem and to encourage people to keep their valuables safe.

It was launched last year following a 16 per cent rise in thefts at stations and on trains across Britain.

But police say the operation is already having an impact with theft figures on track to be lower this year.

Brian Price, spokesman for British Transport Police, said: "We take all incidents seriously. Thieves operating on the rail network should know that they will be caught and dealt with."

Police plea after death

A MOTORCYCLIST has died days after being seriously injured in a crash.

Ashley Sylvester was involved in a collision with a silver BMW on New Street at the junction with Manor Road in Wordsley on July 5.

The 20-year-old from Wordsley was taken to hospital but died four days later.

Sergeant Neil Higgins said: "A young man has tragically lost his life and we are trying to understand how that happened. Anyone who witnessed the collision and has not already spoken to police can contact 101."

A female first

A NEW chief prosecutor has been appointed for the West Midlands.

Extra car spaces at college sports pavilion

A new £390,000 sports pavilion is to be built after a college agreed to increase the number of car parking spaces, following concerns from residents.

King Edward VI College in Stourbridge submitted plans for the pavilion at Green Fields, in Swinford Road, to replace an outdated facility at the site.

Dudley Council officers recommended the scheme be approved but members delayed making a decision to allow more time to consider car parking.

College bosses had intended for there to be a 12-space park next to the new pavilion but residents feared that was not enough with vehicles already parked along both sides of Swinford Road and on pavements.

The car park had now been increased to 24 spaces. It is the second time the number of parking spaces has been increased with only six planned originally.

Officials said plans for the pavilion had now been approved under delegated powers. As part of the scheme, the college will demolish the existing pavilion with the new facility offering improved facilities and slightly larger floor space.

The new building will include four team changing rooms, each with a shower room and toilets. In addition there will be a classroom, a small kitchen and a sheltered social area for spectators. The plan has been made possible thanks to grants from Sport England and Stourbridge Football Club.

In a supporting document, agent Steve Wells Associates said the existing pavilion no longer met Sport England demands and was close to breaching health and safety and child protection requirements.

Residents said that over the past 18 months there had been an increase in use at the site on Saturdays and Sundays, which had resulted in cars often being parked 'bumper to bumper'.

The pavilion is not only used by the college but also for matches and training by teams of both Stourbridge FC and Stourbridge Cricket Club.

Children's centre jobs are under threat again

MORE jobs are at risk of redundancy as part of a shake-up of children's centres across Dudley, it has been announced.

It comes after the council made a U-turn on plans to close seven of the borough's 20 centres, after the proposals sparked outrage from parents and councillors.

At the time, Dudley Council said all centres would remain open for the foreseeable future but it would need to look at other ways to make savings due to pressure on the children's services budget.

But the council has revealed 19 jobs have been identified as at risk of redundancy, which includes nine management positions which already been cut.

The borough's education chief Tim Crumpton said: "We have 20 children's centres in the borough and employ 226 staff. Following extensive public consultation we have committed to keeping all 20 centres open and remodel the service."

"Sadly, we identified 19 positions at risk of redundancy. Of these, some have since left the service of their own choice and we are continuing to work with the other employees following council procedures."

The process is expected to be completed by the end of August. As part of the shake-up, five main centres have retained services while others have had their hours slashed and number of services cut as a result.

By Heather Large

The management of the centres has been merged into five 'cluster' centres, Brierley Hill, Dudley Central, Dudley North, Halesowen and Stourbridge. The number of management positions has been reduced from 14 to five.

Thousands protested against the closure plans which the council had hoped would save £2.3 million over the next three years to help meet a £30m shortfall.

Parents, councillors and MPs campaigned to protect them from closure, saying they were a vital part of communities. They argued the centres provide an important lifeline and a support network for new parents.

Hundreds of people responded to a council consultation and many raised petitions calling for the council to re-think its decision.

More than 15,000 children have access to the centres.

Catering manager Tracey Reece at Himley Hall, where guided tours are being held

Upstairs downstairs on a tour of the hall

LANDMARK Himley Hall is unlocking its secrets for visitors with the opening of some of its usually unseen rooms for a series of guided public tour.

People can have a brush with royalty and take a look at the suite where the Duke and Duchess of Kent honeymooned in 1934, or see the servants' quarters or a secret tunnel under the courtyard.

Sally Newell, Himley estate manager, said: "Visitors on guided tours get to see rooms not normally open to the public. It's a history of the top floor down to the cellars."

"These are all unrefurbished rooms and visitors will be getting a glimpse behind closed doors."

The refurbished north wing, complete with Art Deco style swimming pool and cinema bar, will also be available on the tours.

The dates for the tours are July 17, 23, 24 and 30, as well as August 6, 13, 14, 19, 20, 27 and 28, September 3, 4, 9 and 10.

The tours cost £6.90 per person including tea, coffee and biscuits.

Pre-booking is essential and can be done by calling Himley Hall staff on (01384) 817817.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

A COURT in Amsterdam has ordered the city to reconsider the yuletide appearance of "Black Pete," Santa Claus's traditional helper, after complaints that he is a negative racial stereotype. How long before Santa himself is banned on the grounds that he looks like Rolf Harris?

THE used-banger business has given us a rich vein of ducking, dodging and diving over the years but the growing curse of the "administrative fee" takes the biscuit. This is an arbitrary sum, often about £75, slapped on the price of your car to cover items such as a check on its hire-purchase status. I was amused online to find one dealer explaining earnestly that he couldn't waive this fee for a customer because, if an earlier customer found out, "they (the dealer) can be made to repay anyone who has paid the fee before." Cobblers but isn't it strangely reassuring to know the spirit of Arthur Daley is alive and well?

CHANCELLOR George Osborne was trapped by a kid on a school visit who asked him: "What's seven times eight?" Quick as a flash, Osborne replied: "I've made it a rule in life not to answer a load of maths questions." Quick thinking, eh? Firstly, the Chancellor ducks the risk of getting the answer wrong. Secondly, he avoids slipping into the habits of the City where, if the client asks: "What's seven times eight?" the customary answer is: "Well, what figure did you have in mind, old boy?"

A STUDY reveals that children are now more likely to be bullied online than in the playground. I dare say someone, somewhere has filed this result under "progress."

Company rep jailed on £100k phone theft

A COMPANY rep swindled his Halesowen bosses out of £100,000 with orders for phones from fictitious firms, a court was told.

Stephen Charles Clark bought hundreds of phones using cash from the accounts of facilities firm EBC Group Halesowen, where he worked for three years, before forwarding them to businesses he had set up or were run by friends. Southwark Crown Court heard that Clark operated the con between October 2012 and June 2013 before bosses by Adam Burling

Seized

The West Midlands Regional Fraud Team probed the business books and found the 42-year-old had pocketed around £100,000 from selling on the phones. When Metropolitan Police officers - interested in Clark as part of a separate case - seized his car they found more than £200,000 hidden in the boot.

Clark went on to admit three counts of theft, for which he was jailed for 12 months, and was found guilty of money laundering relating to the cash haul for which he will spend 15 more months behind bars.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Alistair Gadd, said: "Clark has left a black hole in the accounts of his former employer but a Proceeds of Crime Act application is under way to seize assets we can prove were funded through criminal means. None of the phones have been recovered. They were quickly sold on with Clark pocketing the cash - whilst the money laundering was linked to a Met Police drug distribution inquiry.

"Clark's career is in ruins and we'll be pushing hard to recover every penny of the money he swindled from the company."

Clark, from Saxons Meadow, Hartlebury, Worcestershire, was jailed when he appeared at Southwark Crown Court, London, on 26 June.

The West Midlands Regional Fraud Team, consisting of six West Midlands Police officers, was established last November and aims to disrupt crime networks by probing the finances of suspected criminals.

Mother backs knife campaign

THE mother of stabbing victim Christina Edkins urged people to hand in their weapons as she helped police unveil new knife amnesty bins.

The Halesowen schoolgirl's parents Kathleen and Jason Harris spoke publicly for the first time since the 16-year-old's death last year. She was stabbed on a bus in Birmingham while travelling to Leasowes High School.

Her killer, mentally ill Phillip Simelane from Walsall, was sentenced to an indeterminate hospital order.

Miss Edkins' parents attended the launch of the knife surrender bin at Tesco Fiveways in Edgbaston, close to where the teenager died.

Mrs Harris said: "I don't think people realise the effect that knife crime has on people.

"It destroys not only the victim's parents but their family and friends as well.

"We can never have our Christina back but if this bin can even help one person to get rid of one knife, and save one life, then it will have been worthwhile."

Man dies 20 years after van accident

A MAN died from epilepsy caused by a head injury which he received more than 20 years ago when he fell out of a van.

Father-of-one Matthew Walden died at his home in Halesowen on June 29 after suffering an epileptic fit. An inquest heard how his epilepsy was caused by a serious head injury in 1991.

Mr Walden's sister Amanda Walden told the hearing how she and her brother had been in a van being driven by a friend travelling in Lye after a party. As the van went around a corner, Mr Walden was thrown out of the van through a sliding door.

Miss Walden said: "It is something I will never forget." The inquest, at Smethwick Coroner's Court, also heard how the personality of the 43-year-old from Brett Young Close had changed after the incident.

Miss Walden said: "He was very angry for a while. He was a lot better as he got older but he was quite aggressive."

Senior Black Country coroner Robin Balmain said Mr Walden had his first epileptic fit a year after the accident. His sister told the inquest that over the past few years he 'seemed to have more and more'.

Mr Balmain recorded his death was due to epilepsy, following an accident.

Mother in false claims for benefits £30k fraud

A MOTHER from Halesowen who fiddled more than £30,000 in benefits has avoided an immediate jail term.

Caroline Bennett told the Department of Work and Pensions she was living alone when she had a partner who was working as a bus driver, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

The 47-year-old, of Howley Grange Road, had denied two charges of failing to notify the Department of a change in her circumstances. But she was found guilty by a jury after a three day trial. She fraudulently obtained £30,640 in benefits.

Mr Christopher O'Gorman, defending, stressed the scam had not been illegal from the start, adding: "There were a number of difficulties in her personal life, difficulties she still struggles with."

Judge Helen Hughes told Bennett: "You received a large amount of money to which you were not entitled. Things have been going on in your life you should have dealt with. I hope you have learned your lesson good and proper."

Bennett was handed a nine-month jail term suspended for two years.

She was also placed on supervision for 12 months and ordered to carry out 100 hours unpaid work in the community.

Plans for 14 homes on former fire station site

MOVES to demolish a former fire station – which residents campaigned to keep – and replace it with a an estate of 14 homes have taken a step forward.

Halesowen Fire Station was earmarked for housing after approval was given for the idea by Dudley Council in January last year. The station was closed down two years ago despite a campaign by the local community.

Money from the sale will go towards the £3 million replacement station in Cradley Heath.

Three-storey

Horgan Homes has submitted a planning application to knock down the empty building in Hagley Road and build 14 homes.

Under the proposal lodged with Dudley Council, the firm says the estate would be made up of detached, semi-detached and three-storey homes.

It claims the homes would result in a reduction of traffic compared to the station when it was open. It also says there will be no parking problems due to the 48 off-street spaces being provided.

Halesowen South councillor David Vickers said: "I think the local people would like anything to be done with it. The building has been left to rot at present and we need action. I always had a problem with the moving of the fire station, people in Halesowen wanted the station to stay put but the move was passed and we're now looking at a new station being built on our boundary."

The new station, which will open in August and will serve Halesowen and Cradley Heath, will be at the junction of Barrs Road and Halesowen Road on the site of a former municipal building. It will be called Haden Cross Community Fire Station and will be a base for 44 firefighters.

Following the closure of Halesowen Fire Station, outline plans were submitted for 22 new houses but the plan was downsized following pressure from local residents. More than 40 people signed a petition against the initial proposal.

Community use call for civic building

Historic — The old Halesowen Council House in Great Cornbow, Halesowen

OPTIONS will be considered for the future of an historic but deserted civic building in Halesowen.

Halesowen Council House has been empty since staff moved out in March.

Community activist John Young wants to save the wood-paneled mayor's office for future use by the public. The empty building, in Great Cornbow, was opened on June 30 for one hour to allow interested residents to view inside and submit ideas for future use of the listed 19th century building.

Mr Young, aged 81, who organised the tour, said: "Around 30 people attended and there was a lot of interest. People who came along were pleased to see a part of their heritage."

The retired chartered engineer from Grange Hill added: "I have always wanted to have a room in Halesowen that could be used as a community space. The mayor's parlour is symbolic of what Halesowen used to be like."

The campaigner fears the building could be sold to developers.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Free outdoor gig for local musicians

YOUNG bands and singers will be taking to the stage at an annual gig on Sunday.

Staff at Haden Hill House, in Halesowen Road, Cradley Heath, are hosting the outdoor event which will run from noon to 6pm. There will be a range of acts performing during the afternoon.

Museum services manager Jane Hanney said: "It's a great opportunity for young talent to get a chance to play live on stage and we've had some fantastic performers over the years and a few dancers too."

"It is also a great event for visitors to come along to the park and just enjoy the free live music, bring a picnic and stay all afternoon."

Will-making cash boost for charity

AN OLDBURY solicitor's is among a number of law firms in the Black Country that have helped raise almost £25,000 for charity.

The 25 solicitors firms, from across the region, asked clients who had drawn up a will, to make a donation to Will Aid instead of paying them a fee. Will Aid is a partnership between solicitors and nine charities, including ActionAid, Age UK and the British Red Cross. In total, the firms raised £24,265 for the charities by waiving their fees for the wills.

Among those who helped were Middleton Dummer in Oldbury and Waldrons.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

BARONESS Butler-Sloss, the aunt of actor Nigel Havers, has stepped down from her role as chairman of an inquiry into allegations of a child-abuse cover-up before she even started.

She was supposed to be investigating claims that the establishment – including senior figures in the police, clergy and judiciary, as well as a number of MPs – had tried to hush the whole thing up. Some said, as the sister of the Attorney General of the time, she was too close to the establishment herself.

It probably didn't help when her nephew, actor Nigel Havers, weighed in to defend his aunt's honour, but one would not envy the Home Secretary in choosing a replacement. A senior judge who is not part of the establishment?

WOT did yo do fer Black Country Day, then mucker?

When Dudley musician 'Black Country Gaz' Sawers first had the idea for a day to celebrate all that is best about the Cradle of British Industry, he could never have guessed how it would have taken off, with word about the event even spreading to the heart of Downing Street. Even the Chancellor of the Exchequer got in on the act by posing with a Black Country flag.

The thing that has made the past few days so memorable was that it was not something imposed on the region by the great and the good, but that it actually came from the people of the Black Country themselves. Yes, the councils played an important role in supporting it, but it truly was a grass roots event. Even the flag was designed by Stourbridge schoolgirl, Gracie Shepherd.

While the Government and lottery pours millions of pounds into so-called cultural events designed to promote the various parts of Britain, Black Country Mon just gets on with it – no PR consultants, no glossy advertising, just a lot of hard graft.

This was the ingenuity which turned the Black Country into the industrial powerhouse of the world. Bostin', ay it?

SUPPOSE you won £52,000 on the lottery, or maybe the Premium Bonds, or inherited it in a will. What would you do with it? Carefully consider how you will use the money? Maybe think about paying off the mortgage, or a new car perhaps?

Well when Michaela Hutchings of Lichfield incorrectly had £52,000 paid into her account by the city council, she went out to Birmingham's Bull Ring shopping centre and blew £8,000 on designer clothes within 48 hours. She has since been ordered to pay the money back or face going to jail, and she claims she is being victimised because she is a bit of a looker. Beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

But she is hardly a model of financial responsibility, is she?

Ready for the off — the crowd at Himley park

A tropical theme for these two generations of runners

And they're away... on the run to fight cancer

'Fantastic day of tears and laughter'

More than 2,000 women and girls took to their heels in Himley Park raising cash for Cancer Research UK

WOMEN gave cancer a kicking as around 2,000 friends and relatives took part in the Race for Life in the grounds of Himley Hall.

For many taking part it proved an emotional day as they remembered loved ones. But everyone came together to show their fighting spirit — all while donning pink and fancy dress outfits to make the day go with a bang.

Organisers were hoping to raise thousands to help the battle against cancer from the event on Sunday.

Stride

Many took part in an energetic warm up in the shadow of the hall before two scheduled races during the day.

And then it was best foot forward as they stride out through the park and the along the waterside of the pool.

Collette O'Toole, aged 51, brought a several family members including her sister Roseleen Sadler, 43, and 26-year-old daughter Katie from Tipton to take part.

"They were remembering her parents Sheila who died two years ago aged 74 after suffering bile duct cancer. Just 12 weeks later her husband and their father Patrick, 79, also passed away from cancer."

"It was an emotional day for everyone," she said. "But we got all the family together to keep each other going."

Mother-of-three Nins Gill, 37, left her sons at home to join sister Dav Dhani and her children Syah, 11, and 15-year-old Tia for the Race for Life event.

Mrs Gill, of Black Lake, West Brom-

Pretty in pink and off to a screaming start at the Race for Life in Himley wich, was doing the race in memory of her mother Rajinder Bindra who died 17 years ago aged just 53 of cancer of the oesophagus.

"It was a fun day," she said. "It was good to see everyone coming together to help people with cancer."

Natalie Eustace, aged 37, took part with her friend Sam Priest and their daughters, Annalise, 11, and Alicia, 10, on the day.

Mrs Eustace, of Hednesford Road, Heath Hayes, said the Himley event was their third on the row having previously ran in Walsall and Telford. The group always chose a fancy dress theme, this year picking St Trinian's outfits complete with hockey sticks.

That proved useful for Sam who had to hobble around the course after sustaining a foot injury.

They were determined to complete the course to help raise more than £150.

It had taken on special significance for Mrs Eustace's family as her father Keith, 77, had recently received news he was clear of bowel cancer.

Tracey Duffy, event organiser, said:

"I want to say a heartfelt thanks to everyone who took part in Race for Life, and their supporters, as well as our heroic volunteers."

"It was a fantastic day, full of emotion, courage, tears and laughter as over 3,400 women joined forces to show cancer who's boss."

"Now I'm asking all the women who took part and all the friends, family and colleagues who pledged to sponsor them, to transform their passion into progress by returning the money they've raised as soon as possible."

Cost

Cancer Research UK does not receive any Government funding for its work. Money raised goes towards researchers who help more men, women and children survive.

Ms Duffy added: "Many people don't realise that their entry fee only covers the cost of the event."

"It's the sponsorship money that really makes a difference."

"So, whatever the amount, we're asking everyone to make every effort to return their sponsorship money as soon as possible. It can be paid in online, by phone or by cheque."

Nell Barrie, Cancer Research UK's senior science communication manager, said: "Each year more and more people are diagnosed with cancer, so there's still much more to do."

"That's why we need we need everyone who took part in Race for Life in Dudley to make every step count by supporting our doctors, nurses and scientists so they can take strides forward in the fight against this devastating disease."

Some 2,300 or so women, children – and one man – ran around Wolverhampton's West Park last month as part of the Wolverhampton Race for Life, one of the Black Country's other major in the pink fundraisers which had a target of £150,000 to boost Cancer Research UK.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

THERE are times I wonder if some of the Tories enjoy a good strike.

It gives them the chance to remind the country of Labour's reliance on the unions and try to get everyone to gang up on them.

It's our children who suffered the loss of a day's precious education, the critics say. It's the hardworking (all the parties love that word) parents who had to make alternative arrangements. The unions say they're doing this for everyone. The Tories say they're hurting everyone.

The taxpaying public are playing piggy in the middle while our kids' education and future is in an emotional custody battle between opposing ideologies. The unions make the valid point that it wasn't lollipop ladies, bin men or social workers that caused the recession.

Neither was it the children or the mums and dads who have been inconvenienced by a shut school or left with a full bin on the basis of a strike justified with turnouts as low as 20 per cent in some unions.

Firefighters had a much bigger turnout for their ballot.

But their own reasons for striking – particularly the concern over 60-year-old firefighters being expected to carry people out of burning buildings due to pension reforms – were swept up in a general wave of public sector discontent because everyone chose the same day to walk out. Everyone walking out at once might have grabbed the headlines, but it also let the Government to condemn them en masse rather than address the many and varied concerns each union has.

Meanwhile Tory, Lib Dem and Labour MPs who either imposed miserable austerity on the country or presided over years of unsustainable spending (debate those points among yourselves) were probably not too bothered by schools shutting.

They earn more than double the national average salary. I can't imagine any of them was particularly stretched by the extra childcare costs.

At least the Tories took a side, whether rightly or wrongly, in condemning the strike.

Labour chose to neither support nor condemn it officially even though its bread is buttered by the unions and their donations.

It's a strange position to take because Labour owes its very existence to the trade union movement.

I don't see why Ed Miliband needs to appear so coy about it.

He could do with working out exactly where he stands with public sector strikes so the unions know what they're letting themselves in for if he becomes Prime Minister.

As any 'hardworking' person affected by the walkouts will attest, playing piggy in the middle is no fun at all.

Enough resources to meet all our needs

WE have read the views expressed in your paper in relation to immigration.

Whilst we are aware of the poverty which exists in this country and are trying to tackle it, we as Christians have to object to unjust scapegoating of immigrants and demands that funds going to impoverished third world countries be stopped.

For those of us who believe in a god or have any form of human compassion, let us be grateful our circumstances are not so desperate that we have to resort to risking life and limb by travelling on overcrowded unsafe boats or on the undercarriages of lorries to reach Europe.

Christ said: "Whatever you do to the least of my brethren, you do to me."

There are enough resources in this world to meet everyone's need but not everyone's greed.

Our nation was recently touched by the marvellous example shown by Stephen Sutton. Hopefully, the selfless generosity of spirit he displayed will live with us.

Memories of cousins

I AM hoping that some (elderly) readers may remember G E Young and Sons (butchers) and Taylors (ice cream makers) who had shops in Bilston High Street in the 40s and 50s.

George and Sally Young were my grandparents. They had nine children of whom three were girls; Gwen whose married name was Harwood and later Pearman, Ivy whose married name was Meredith, Lily whose married name was Flavell. Their children are my cousins and I have lost contact with them.

The Taylors had a son, my cousin, who attended Normanhurst boarding school in the dreadful winter of 1947.

Thank mechanic mystery man

ON Saturday, June 28, my daughter was driving towards Franche when a piece of metal fell from underneath her car, clanging on the road.

She pulled up near the Co-op and to her surprise a mechanic appeared from nowhere, had seen it happen, got underneath and sorted the problem out and promptly disappeared. This just proves there are still some really good kind and caring people about. My daughter Claire would like to thank this gentleman as she does not have his name.

Passport chaos is a disgrace

THE passport office is in chaos. This coalition government, through axing hundreds of jobs, have now a backlog of almost 500,000 applicants waiting for their passports.

It costs the passport office £57 to process a passport, they charge £72.50, so they stand to make around £50 million profit which will go straight back to the treasury. In the meantime, thousands of holiday makers are at risk of not receiving their passports in time for their holidays. It is costing £1m a month on overtime and calling in extra staff.

Sacking staff and treating a public service as if it was a profit-making exercise just shows they are not fit to govern. You have to blame David Cameron and Theresa May for this.

They should be using this £50m on getting staff reinstated to get this backlog cleared as a matter of urgency. After all, the people applying have filled in their forms correctly and paid their money up front.

PM's promises may not be workable

THE Prime Minister came to the Black Country promising to invest £138.7m of taxpayers' money in the area over the next five years of which it is claimed that £35m will be spent on projects in the next year alone.

Some of the projects proposed such as road and motorway improvements do make sense. As the country is £1 trillion in debt I have to ask how this money can be found without storing up yet more debt for future generations?

Although with the vast majority of the investment planned over the next five years it does sound to me rather like the cheque is in the post and like so many promises that have been made to Black Country communities in the past I have to question if this cheque arrives will it bounce?

There are plans to train people to work in the construction industry - foreign nationals from poorer EU countries already undercut British construction workers on labour charges and I would argue such schemes may prove to be worthless unless the problem of mass uncontrolled immigration is solved first.

He also plans to spend some of the investment on the infrastructure on the white elephant that is HS2. I would call on Mr Cameron to invest the money in local rail schemes such as the Wednesbury to Merry Hill metro link.

Balti restaurant is hot stuff with award

Manager Foz Miah and the head chef Mohammed Monsur Ali at the award-winning Balti Bazaar in Lye

A BALTI restaurant in the heart of the Black Country is cooking up a storm after adding another gong to its award-winning reputation.

The Balti Bazaar restaurant in Lye has been given The Guild Award of Excellence 2014 for the town of Lye.

The restaurant was the only business in the town, which is the heart of the Black Country balti belt, to receive the award given out at The Guild of Bangladeshi Restaurateurs for the whole of Staffordshire and the Black Country region this summer.

The glittering ceremony was held at Walsall Town Hall and saw 22 restaurants receiving awards.

The 70-seater restaurant in High Street won the prestigious prize after a secret visit by food critics to the popular eatery.

Delighted

They were judged on customers service, food quality and cleanliness.

Owner Rais Miah said: "We are delighted.

"It shows the work we are doing is being appreciated and we hope to continue our service for our customers."

The restaurant employs seven people but bosses are on the look-out for up to three new staff.

Mr Miah said: "We are doing very well but the only problem we are having is getting in good trained staff."

This is not the first time the restaurant has won an award.

In 2011 Balti Bazaar won the West Midlands regional prize at the Spice Times Restaurant Awards and in 2009 the restaurant's chef was Curry Chef of the Year.

Bostin' weekend as the Black Country flag flies

IF one word could sum up the joyous scenes celebrating Black Country Day it has to be bostin'.

The first festival of music, culture and, most importantly, fun, created a party giving the community a cause to smile as they celebrated our region's special day.

Black Country Day was celebrated over the weekend and on the actual day, Monday, July 14, not only in our corner of the country but around the world.

Castle

From Dudley Castle to soldiers serving in Afghanistan, it has never felt better to be a Black Countryman.

Festival founder 'Black Country' Gaz Sawers said: "I can think of a better word than bostin to say how great it is that so many people are behind the festival and want to celebrate Black Country Day."

Hundreds of the 5f x 3ft flags flew off the shelves at the Black Country Living Museum and Black Country T-Shirt Shop in Cradley Heath.

Paul Palmer, owner of Black Country T-Shirt Shop, said: "In under two days we have sold 75 flags. We have sold about 300 of them. It shows everyone's proud to be where they are from."

Hundreds of events took place and it proved a red, white and black extravaganza as the Black Country Flag flew proudly as thousands turned out for a weekend mostly blessed with good weather.

Traditional comedy stars like Aynuk joined a new generation of performers like The Fizzogs as crowds celebrated the return of the Black Country Night Out at the Red House Glass Cone in Wrodsley.

Dudley's Stone Street square was transformed by stallholders and mu-

Dudley Zoo chief executive Peter Suddock ensured the flag flew on Dudley Castle. The Black Country Living Museum hosted a packed programme of activities to give residents and tourists a true taste of Black Country heritage.

There was a picnic in the park at Warley Woods, a community event at The Dell Stadium, while acts entertained shoppers in Halesowen town centre and at the Red House Glass Cone. More than 20,000 people poured through the gates of West Park for the Wolverhampton and Black Country Festival and there was a Black Country pride theme to the OH Festival in Old Hill. It was a bostin' weekend.

Leader Valerie Jones with successors Nathan Sidwaway and Suzanne Jones

Scout stalwart Val calls it a day after 32 years

A SCOUT leader with more than three decades of work in Dudley has hung up her neckerchief and woggle for the last time.

Second Lower Gornal's Scout Group leader Valerie Jones is stepping down from her position after more than 32 years.

The 62-year-old former cashier addressed the crowd of scouts and their families at the group's AGM, and wished them luck for the future before she was presented with a bouquet of flowers and a badge for long service within the scouting organisation.

Husband

The decision to retire from her position as group leader comes following the death of her husband Des to cancer last year. They both spent 32 years helping out at the group in Temple Street after seeing both their sons go through the ranks.

She said: "It was time for me to step down and I have thoroughly enjoyed my time as a scout leader. This is a job that requires you to give 100 per cent but since Des passed away I haven't been able to give that, and it wasn't fair on the group.

"I love children and it's wonderful to see them grow up and get their badges, progress and move on."

"I feel so proud when I see one of my former scouts who have gone on to be a policeman or when they bring their own children here to learn what they learned."

Valerie first joined the group in 1983 when her son Gavin became a Cub when he was eight. He is still with the Scouts as a leader at the age of 41.

Back in '83 she was asked to help out and soon became a dedicated helper.

"I ended up being there for 32 years," she said. "I was assistant helper first, then I became a cub leader, then a scout leader, then assistant group scout leader and then full group scout leader, which is how I am retiring now."

"I started because of the children, getting involved with them and seeing what they get out of it, to see them get something out of life. But then I just stuck with it because I enjoyed it."

She particularly enjoyed the trips to camps abroad, such as Switzerland and Paris.

"I remember one time we went to France on the coach, and there were two group leaders with us who were older ladies. They asked the driver if he could get the coach as close to the beach as he could, as they couldn't walk far. Then we got stuck. We were there for hours with trucks coming to try to move us and we ended up on the front page of the local paper."

She added: "I have seen a lot change. Where once the boys would be given a piece of wood to whittle or allowed to climb trees now we have to fill out a risk assessment but maybe that's for the best."

Firm fined after boy's head was stuck in gate

A FIRM has been fined after an eight-year-old boy's head got stuck in an automated school gate.

Oliver Mincher was on his way out of Pedmore CE Primary School with his father on September 25, 2012, when the gate closed on him, causing bruising to his head and ear.

Leicester-based Access Control Solutions Ltd has now been fined £3,300 over the incident following a court hearing.

At Dudley Crown Court last week Oliver's father Dan Bansal described the incident as 'dreadful'. He said: "You don't send your children to school and expect them to be injured. I was shocked. He ran off in front of me and I called to him to tell him to wait, as past the gate is a public area. He stopped in the gateway to look at me. It hit his shoulder and before I knew where I was he was screaming at the top of his voice."

Mr Bansal said he had to use all of his force to try to get Oliver out of the gate. After a few seconds staff inside the school saw what was happening and pressed the release button. He added: "Oliver is OK now, he talks about it and it gives him nightmares sometimes."

Prosecuting solicitor Mrs Sarah Palfreyman, on behalf of the Health and Safety Executive, said there was no safety trip fitted to the gate despite this having been identified as a risk.

She said: "The guard they said would be fitted wasn't fitted. The gate there wasn't the gate they expected it to be, so the guard they had did not fit and no guard was fitted."

Speaking on behalf of the company, Mr Tom Panton said it was a matter of 'absolute dismay' that the company found itself in court. He said: "This has never happened before, nothing ever even remotely like it."

He explained that the intention had always been to fit the proper safety measures to the gate but that it was a "source of some embarrassment that the company can't narrow down precisely why intention didn't match reality".

Mr Panton also said the company has now checked the qualifications of its engineers, and sent all of them on a specialist course about automated systems, as well as 'beefing up' risk assessment and review procedures.

Magistrates fined the company £3,300, and ordered it to pay court costs of £773.

MP joins charity climb in memory of campaigner

Walkers MP Ian Austin, Steve Waltho, Dave Tyler, Shaz Saleem and Adam Aston at the Bissell memorial

AN annual climb of Ben Nevis is being launched to honour a celebrated peace campaigner and raise charity funds.

A group of walkers including Dudley North MP Ian Austin will take on the gruelling trek on August 6.

He will be joined by the mayor's consort Councillor Adam Aston, deputy mayor Councillor Steve Waltho and armed forces champion Councillor Dave Tyler.

Christian peace campaigner Bert Bissell, who died aged 96 in 1998, a probation officer, lived in Selborne Road, Dudley, and had founded the Young Men's Bible Class at Vicar Street. He climbed Ben Nevis in Scotland on VJ Day in 1945 and many times afterwards, constructing a Peace Cairn at its summit. There is a monument to Mr Bissell at Coronation Gardens opposite the Council House.

Mr Bissell was a friend of the Austin family and all funds raised will go to the Mayor's charities (Action Heart and Guide Dogs), the children's unit at Russells Hall, local Royal British Legion and Black Country Fast Aid for ambulances. See www.bertbissellmemorialwalk.co.uk for more details.

Caitlin builds a girl in her own image

REVIEWS BOOKS

by Leon Burakowski

CAITLIN Moran is at pains in the preface of her new novel of fiction, even though her hero Johanna — like Caitlin — comes from a large family on a Wolverhampton council estate and gets her big break writing for the music press.

The early part of How To Build A Girl (Ebury, hardback, £14.99) reads like her flawed sit-com Raised By Wolves rather than the sparky, witty ladette feminism of her best-seller How To Be A Woman. It is actually her second novel having written published fantasy The Chronicles of Narmo when 15.

She hits her stride in rude and rumbustious, self-deprecating style and, like her best journalism, the frivolous fun has moments of insight. But if you have read her Wolverhampton memoirs in her non-fiction, it is hard not to see character and author as one.

William Boyd is the latest author to revive James Bond and he does a good job in Solo (Vintage, paperback, £7.99). This is Ian Fleming's Bond rather than the movie versions. He drinks too much, smokes too much, eyes every attractive woman as a possible conquest, and has a cruel, vengeful streak. We meet Bond celebrating his 45th birthday in 1969 with fine dining and wine at The Dorchester, reminiscing about his D-Day experiences. Boyd gives this adventure an agreeable retro feel as M sends 007 on a mission to a African civil war with oil revenues up for grabs. In a nice touch for devotees, the author adds a few tasty extras like the recipe for Bond's favourite salad dressing, probably shaken not stirred.

Author and journalist Caitlin Moran

How To Build A Girl published by Ebury

Another resurrected sleuth this summer is the aristocratic Peter Wimsey, who finds his elevation to a dukedom embroils him in a row between Oxford college academics in The Late Scholar (Hodder & Stoughton, paperback, £8.99). Things turn nasty when the squabble over an ancient manuscript leads to murder akin to one that featured in a novel by his mystery writer wife Harriet. Jill Paton Walsh does Dorothy L Sayers proud in this delightfully old fashioned whodunnit.

Horror thriller The Girl With All The Gifts (Orbit, hardback, £12.99) is a tense and poignant post-apocalypse tale with a tender strand of maternal love at its heart. With sudden moments of gory violence, M R Carey (who writes for comics, including mighty Marvel) has created a real page-turner blending the best elements from 28 Days Later and Let The Right One In. After a bleak and powerful beginning, the story of special little girl Melanie becomes a tale of survival on the road as a band of survivors aim for home through a English countryside where lurking dangers include terrifying zombie-like Hungries and lawless Junkers.

Chiller The Voices (Pan, paperback, £7.99) recalls the long hot summer of 1976. Author F R Talbot is clearly a fantasy fan, making one of his characters a composer with the BBC Radiophonic Workshop, referencing Hammer horror and Star Wars. In this slow-burning haunted house story a family find strange voices leaking through electrical devices in their big Victorian house.

Victoria Falls Botswana Safari and Cape Town

Beginning in Zambia, staying close to the spectacular Victoria Falls, the largest single body of falling water in the world, a sunset cruise along the mighty Zambezi on the African Queen will be the first spectacular experience. As the boat glides across this expanse of a river inhabited by hippo and crocodiles, simply relax in a wicker armchair and absorb the unique surroundings.

At Victoria Falls, a guided walking tour is included with other options to view the spectacular falls from either a cruise, a helicopter flight or from a micro-light aircraft.

On the Botswana Safari travel in a specially adapted 10-seater open-sided safari vehicle and see a wide variety of game including monkeys, warthogs and even leopards plus the chance to see cats, giraffe and elephants — it's an experience not to be forgotten so remember to pack a camera!

A second cruise, this time along the Chobe River, almost guarantees sightings of elephant and hippo, then a visit to Cape Point passes the fishing harbour of Hout Bay. Continuing on, see the breathtakingly scenic Chapman's Peak Drive, full of rugged seascapes and cliffs to the Cape of Good Hope Nature Reserve.

At Cape Point itself see the confluence of the Indian and Atlantic Ocean then it's on to Boulders Beach to see the resident penguin colony.

On the Winelands tour, a visit to the small town of Franschhoek is included home to South Africa's most prestigious university and where period buildings and historic streets reinforce the town's dignified atmosphere. A cellar tour and tasting at the award-winning Boschendal Wine Estate is included.

The touring holiday ends in Cape Town. Take time to explore the excellent shopping and dining available, take the cable car to the summit of Table Mountain and, weather permitting, visit Robben Island where Nelson Mandela spent most of his 27 years incarceration.

It's from till to tome for checkout worker with novel

A SHOP assistant is hoping keen readers will 'checkout' her new novel after she realised her dream of becoming an author.

Mother-of-two Donna Brittle was inspired to reach her goal after her father John Cole passed away suddenly.

The 35-year-old from Sedgley is celebrating after her novel, Beautifully Unbroken, was published.

She lives with my husband of 14-years Matthew, also 35, in Milking Bank, Dudley, who she met while attending the Dormston School.

Donna, who works part time at a nearby Tesco Express, has been coming up with ideas for her own book over the years.

She started writing Beautifully Unbroken around 18 months ago but when her father became ill last summer the writing stalled.

He died just before Christmas aged 62 after a cancer battle. Donna said she resolved that life was too short to put things off and she pressed ahead with her writing.

"My prime goal was to get the book published so as I had my very own copy on my bookshelf next to my many other favourite books but the response has gone above and beyond anything I ever expected," she said.

"I feel very overwhelmed that I can now hold my own book in my hands and know that I did that, I dreamed the dream and it became reality," she added.

Her novel tells the story of British actress Jo Summers, who faces past relationships in a bid to find happiness. It is available on Amazon as a download and paperback and on Google Play books

House prices are ready to rocket up

AVERAGE house prices in the West Midlands are on course to break the £200,000 barrier by the end of next year, says a new report.

Officials say it is a sign of the increasing strength in the region's economy with growth expected to almost double this year.

Experts at leading accountancy firm PwC – formerly PricewaterhouseCoopers – say the recovery in the wider UK economy could see interest rates starting to rise as early as the end of this year.

While that might cause a slight slowdown in the housing market, as some families fear higher mortgage repayments, PwC is still predicting average house prices in the West Midlands could hit £210,000 by the end of next year. They could rise as high as £256,000 by 2020.

It is a reflection of how the UK housing market has leapt back into life over the past 12 to 18 months with prices rising across the country.

House prices are expected to rise eight per cent in the West Midlands this year, up from £184,000 at the end of 2013.

Council to make an additional £4m of cuts

DUDLEY Council needs to make an extra £4 million of cuts this year to balance its books.

Finance bosses say the fresh cuts during the 2014/15 financial year will help them to deal with a greater shortfall in funding during the following three years.

Councillor Stuart Turner, cabinet member for finance, said "We are facing the deepest cuts to the council's budget in living memory."

"To manage this difficult situation as prudently as possible we are bringing forward planned cuts into this financial year. This protects council reserves and leaves us in a stronger position going forward."

Some of the savings will be made by restructuring departments and increasing burial fees, which was approved in April.

Bankrupt

The council needs to save £30m over the next three years with 27 compulsory and 72 voluntary redundancies planned for this year. It follows the loss of 621 jobs from the council over the previous three years.

The council says the drop in Government funding had not been as bad as first feared.

Council leader David Sparks said: "The situation is at Dudley by 2016 we will have a gap of £30.2m between income and expenditure. We therefore have to take corrective action because we are determined we will not go bankrupt."

"We have had a exercise of looking at activities of council to see where we can make further savings. We have identified four million pounds out of this. It is from across the board at the council."

By Heather Large

The budget approved in March resulted in a council tax freeze, which resulted in a £1.1m Government grant.

Rates for properties will remain the same with band D homes paying £1,272.67.

Cuts already identified include cuts to street cleaning, which will see residents being encouraged to hold their own litter picks, and plans to shorten the collection period for green waste to save £100,000.

The management of King'swinford's Broadfield House Glass Museum could be transferred to a third party in a bid to trim £170,000 by 2015/16. There are proposals to save up to £581,000 by reducing road construction and resurfacing.

Councillor Patrick Harley, leader of the council's Conservatives, said: "In one breath the Labour council is telling us they are financially better off than they had predicated and yet decide to bring forward £4m worth of additional cuts. This is completely bizarre."

Taxpayers paying out convict compensation

TAXPAYERS are paying out £138,000 a year in compensation to convicted criminals attacked in prison – sparking anger from a Black Country MP who unearthed the figure.

Dudley North MP Ian Austin has received figures from Parliament which show settlements for victims of jail assaults over the past four years came to a total £552,000.

Notable awards include Milly Dowler's killer Levi Bellfield, who received £4,500 in April following an assault. Others to receive money include Moors murderer Ian Brady and Soham murderer Ian Huntley. These figures come after reports of overcrowded and under-staffed prisons coincided with a 25 per cent rise in the number of assaults in jail. Mr Austin said: "Decent law-abiding families will be shocked to discover services they rely on are being cut back and families are being hit with the bedroom tax, while the Government is letting compensation for criminals go up every year."

Art of war in an animated story

GAMES

WAR business is good business for the games industry with many of the best selling titles being designed for arm-chair commandos but two new titles are a little different from the typical Battlefield and Call of Duty franchises.

Valiant Hearts: The Great War (for most formats) is an animated comic book style side-scrolling adventure, blending puzzles and action, that follows the fate of several characters and a faithful bond during the First World War.

Destinies cross as a German soldier attempts to be reunited with his French wife, his father-in-law swaps life on the farm for the French army and a Belgian nurse does her best to save lives.

Emotion

Beautifully illustrated by Ubisoft's team in Montpellier, this is a compelling game that also teaches players about the 1914-18 conflict and actually becomes quite poignant. Emotion in a video game?! Think of Valiant Hearts as the gaming equivalent of that moment when the laughter stopped in Blackadder Goes Forth as our favourite comic characters went over the top to their collective doom.

Enemy Front stands out from the plethora of first-person shooters set in the Second World War because it chooses theatres of war, such as Poland and Norway, seldom explored by mainstream war games.

It opens with intense action during the Warsaw Uprising when the Polish resistance tried to drive the Nazis out of their capital city by throwing up barricades and using the sewers to launch surprise attacks. You play American journalist Robert Hawkins, a war correspondent who has abandoned any idea of impartiality as he joins the struggle against Nazi Germany.

Missions require stealth interspersed with gun-blazing action which gives this game its adult rating. Whilst the game play doesn't bring anything particularly new, the superbly realised settings from Poland's CI Games are impressive. If you like Sniper Elite III, it's worth checking this out and it is available for all major platforms.

If you prefer a wild flight of fancy, look no further than One Piece Unlimited World Red, the sort of mind-boggling adventure that no one does better than the Japanese. From Bandai Namco and based on the popular 'straw hat' manga (comics) created by Eiichiro Oda, this inhabits a bizarre world of monsters, heroes with incredible powers and heroines with chests that would rival Dolly Parton.

There is a Battle Coliseum mode for those who want to head straight to the battles with boss villains, or follow the story narrative as the Straw Hat Pirates, including a cute but deadly ra-coon named Pato, explore Forgotten Island and take on the Red Count.

One Piece is a weird, dazzling, fast-moving game with vibrant visuals. But for some the lack of an English dub (it's in Japanese with subtitles) may be a distraction and the absence of an online mode will put some potential players off. It is available for PS3, Vita, Wii U and 3DS and has a 12 plus certificate.

Gentlemen (and ladies), start your engines because the biggest and best motor sport games of the year has arrived in GRID Autosport (PS3, X360, PC), a slickly realised title from Codemaster that will fast become a favourite with console petrolheads. You can choose from a huge number of cars, hot hatches to F1, street and track circuits at 22 locations around the world, and five racing styles. Then there are a host of options to form Racing Clubs via the RaceNet powered multiplayer, party modes, demolition derby and head to head split-screen races to enhance the online experience.

Dancing days recalled from the past 50 years

WHEN the founder of a popular ballet school set it up 50 years ago in a garage – she never imagined it would grow into a lasting institution.

Over the decades Walsall Academy of Dance has seen aspiring stars join the ranks of famous ballet troupes, appear on the stage as well as the big screen.

Celebrities who found fame after cutting their teeth at the Butts Street studio in the art of ballet, tap and modern dance include Brownhills supermodel Erin O'Connor and Cannon's Nativity star Ben Wilby.

Former boss Diane Millard set up the academy in 1964 with just five pupils in a garage at her parents' home in Leamore. "I just wanted to teach dance. I was lucky enough to be trained by Madam Helena Lehmski who taught me not only the classical English ballet method, but also the Italian and the Russian methods.

"I was on a mission and fortunately I got the children who were also dedicated and the parents were fantastic,"

MEMORY LANE

by Deborah Hardiman

Miss Millard, aged 70, says. Soon her reputation grew and by the 1970s her charges were performing live on children's TV shows Tiswas and Kids World. Over the decades there have been roles in ballets and pantomimes including a stint with Cannon and Ball in Aladdin.

The school is a force to reckon with at competitions and for seven years running in the 1980s and 1990s took the top spots at the British dance championships. Former pupils have joined the ranks of the Royal Ballet and appeared in musicals including Rock of Ages, Aspects of Love, the Batman World Tour, at the Moulin Rouge in France, or are snapped up by cruise ship operators.

In 1989 Staffordshire's Lisa Waddingham, then just 18, was picked by composer Andrew Lloyd-Webber for the Royal Variety Performance after he spotted her in a touring version of Cats. Meanwhile Streetly's Drew McOnie in 2010 was a contestant on the TV talent series So You Think You Can Dance? Others have opened their own dance schools. While some are among the second generation of their family to attend. These include Summer Seager-Coles, 13, of Barton under Needwood, and her mother Andrea, who was a pupil there in 1968.

The 180-pupil strong academy is now run by current principal Christa Collard, who was signed up at the school aged two. She took over the reins four years ago. Miss Collard says: "At WAD we pride ourselves on offering high standards of teaching allowing students to gain dance qualifications, alongside gaining performance opportunities and having fun."

This year three aspiring ballerinas Amy York, 19, Jordan Sylvester, 17, and Clare Newton-Sheppard, 18, have been accepted to study at the Royal Academy of Dance, in London. A reunion party is being held on July 19 at Sutton Coldfield Town Hall, at 8pm. Tickets are available on 01922 613281. Epic ride raises money for Callum

A PENNY Farthing helped five fundraisers collect more than £1,000. The car dealership workers swapped horse power for pedal power to raise money for Callum Lovernidge, of Stourbridge, who was left paralysed after a BMX accident in 2010.

Evans Halshaw Ford dealership fleet manager Alex Hillman, workshop controller Wayne Keough and technician Dave Bailey alongside parts advisors Darren Warner and Malcolm Johnson took part in the cycle ride from Wolverhampton to Aberdovey in Wales.

Malcolm did the entire 104 mile journey on an Victorian Penny Farthing bicycle. The others took to butcher bikes as they embraced the challenge in fancy dress. The group faced harsh weather and steep hills in Wales, completing the journey in 13 hours.

President is key to deal that will help fraudster's victims

A FRAUDSTER who duped property owners out of more than £150,000 has been given one final chance to pay back his victims but it depends on a deal being approved by Nigeria's President Goodluck Jonathan

Mark Ware, aged 50, targeted homeowners, including in Hagley, as part of his fraud which involved a total of £157,995. Customers complaints to Central England Tradings Standards after handing over money for building projects that were not completed.

Having initially denied two counts of fraudulent trading and three counts of VAT fraud, Ware admitted the offences after a trial got underway in April.

Birmingham Crown Court was told last month that Ware was negotiating a multi-million pound contract to be signed by President of Nigeria Goodluck Jonathan.

Last week Judge Mary Stacey delayed sentencing Ware, of Newick Avenue, Sutton Coldfield, after being told he was still to receive cash from the contract. A previous hearing was told that Ware had clinched a deal with the Nigerian Government worth £335 million to supply solar panels. Ware could earn £2m.

Mr Martin Butterworth, defending, said despite a contract being signed by an 'intermediary company', the first stage of payment had not been received. He said: "I am seeking further opportunity for Mr Ware to make payment to those who have lost by being given a further opportunity to receive the initial payment. The alternative will be he will go into custody, lose his job, the injured parties will not get their money."

Judge Stacey adjourned sentencing to September 2.

Bring along a scarecrow

HEROES and villains of the screen will be the theme of Belbroughton's 18th scarecrow festival this autumn

Preparations are already under way for the event at the village near Stourbridge on September 27 and 28. Residents make scarecrows decorated to reflect a theme.

Festival chairman Ian Pemberton said £10,000 had been set aside for entertainment at this year's festival, which will include a classic car rally and motorcycle stunt riding display

Around 100 scarecrows were on display last year, attracting 16,000 visitors and raising £36,000 for good causes.

For the first time, people from outside the village are being invited to bring along their own scarecrows to be judged too.

MP backs bid to boost repair fund

MP James Morris shows where repairs are needed

A CREAM Tea event at Cradley Heath Baptist Church on Saturday attracted around 150 visitors, including Halesowen and Rowley Regis MP James Morris, raising money to repairs to the listed building.

The main part of the building will need about £30,000 to make safe the old plasterwork on the ceiling and redecorate the imposing 1904 section of the building.

The members of Cradley Heath Baptist Church have thanked their many friends and supporters for support that means they are more than a quarter of the way towards the target and the cream tea has raised over £360 more.

Robert Higginson, organist and a church stewards, said that he hopes the repaired building can be used for other events.

"During the last 20 years quite a few of the church buildings in Cradley Heath have closed. There are many activities, compatible with this being a church building for which the premises could be hired by other groups. For example, the building could be used for music concerts."

Warning after man injured in explosion

A MAN suffered burns to his face and neck when he added fuel to a bonfire in an industrial drum, resulting in an explosion

The 26-year-old man from Pedmore added the liquid accelerant because he wanted to get the fire started before rain came at the business unit in Hayes Lane, Lye, last week.

West Midlands Ambulance Service paramedic Ste Hill said that as the man poured it on to the flames the fire exploded, causing minor burns to his face and neck.

He added: "There is no doubt that his injuries could have been very much worse." Mr Hill treated the man before taking him to Russells Hall Hospital for further assessment. He added: "We can but reiterate the dangers of putting an accelerant on a bonfire. Every year we see such cases where people have put petrol or other chemicals on fires with the same result."

Dudley's EofE boys make bid for stardom with a nationwide tour

It's creepy and kooky family fun

THEY'RE creepy and they're kooky — they're The Addams Family and they've taken up residence in Brierley Hill.

Fans will be able to see Morticia, Gomez and co when the younger members of Brierley Hill Musical Theatre Company stage the Broadway musical version of the hit American horror comedy The Addams Family.

A cast of 22 aged 10 to 21 will perform the hit show at Brierley Hill Civic Hall in Bank Street from from tonight to Saturday.

Co-ordinator Jo Gresswell said: "The show is a little different from the film because Wednesday is all grown up and had a boyfriend but it still provides all of the same comedy.

"We are delighted because we are the first to premiere it in the Midlands."

Tickets are £8 available on 0845 658 8095.

The young cast of The Addams Family get ready for some explosive fun at Brierley Hill

THEY tasted fame as a support act for supergroup McBusted and now Dudley-based rock band EofE are stepping out on their own with their first nationwide headline tour.

EofE's 13-date Unleashed tour which will kick off this November and will see the Black Country boys having a West Midlands homecoming gig at The Institute in Digbeth, Birmingham, on November 15.

Having impressed more than 380,000 fans while supporting pop stars McBusted (the McFly-Busted supergroup) on a 32-date arena tour this year, including several concerts at Birmingham LG Arena, the group is now stepping out of the support band shadows.

Momentum

The group was formed three years ago and is made up of lead vocalist Tom Harris, 17, from Nether-ton, Dan Bremner, 19, from Gornal, Luke Bradley, 18, also from Gornal, and drummer Nicky Waters, 25 who is Northumberland.

Lead singer Tom Harris: "Our own tour is something we have always wanted to do and now is the perfect time because we want to keep the momentum created by the McBusted tour."

The former Hillcrest Community College student added: "It was surreal to play an arena tour so early in our career.

"We loved the whole tour but it was sentimental to play at Birmingham's LG Arena, giving all our local fans the chance to see us doing the best thing we have ever done."

The singer is spending summer at the family home in Church Road.

He said: "I am still coming down from the tour but I missed my mum's cooking.

"By November we'll have loads of new material, plus all the songs we played on the McBusted tour, so will be putting on a much bigger show."

The Mill (Channel 4, 8pm)
The catchphrase 'trouble at t'mill' may have been coined back in 1967 on the early John Thaw series Inheritance, but it might as well have been created purely for this show, which began last year – for not only is it centred around a mill, but there's also frequently trouble at it. As the 19th-century period drama returns for a second run, that trouble takes the form of the Poor Law Amendment Act of 1834, which has led to desperate economic migrants from the South arriving at Quarry Bank in search of jobs. The workers in Styal village are concerned that the arrival of these impoverished families will drive down everyone's wages, and the impact of the new legislation hits home for apprentice Esther.

Curtain-raiser promises to be spectacular

The build-up to the Commonwealth Games has been almost as exhausting as taking part.

For months we've been told it's on its way and that it's going to be fantastic – well, at long last, it's time for Glasgow to put its money where its mouth is and prove that anything London can do, it can at least match.

Following the success of the Olympics in 2012, the city certainly has a lot to live up to, but Clare Balding, who will be on presenting duties for the BBC throughout the event, thinks Glasgow will do Scotland proud.

"It's amazing how much people are still talking about London 2012 and when they start talking about it they smile," says Balding. "It makes them feel warm inside and I think it showed the best of us as a country."

"I know that Glasgow will do the same, and the Scottish welcome will be warm and generous and enthusiastic. I just think it is a very good reflection of our ability to organise major events and stage them with humour and a great appreciation of entertainment value, and to do so efficiently and always with the athlete in mind."

She will present coverage of the opening ceremony at Celtic Park alongside Gary Lineker and Hazel Irvine; Irvine also provides the commentary with Huw Edwards.

The Queen's Baton Relay ends here, and 3,000 volunteers take part in what promises to be a spectacular show.

Competitors from 71 nations enter the arena in the Parade of Athletes before the Queen herself officially declares the Games open.

Will she arrive by helicopter with James Bond, as she did during the Olympics? Well, we'll have to wait and see.

Although most of the action takes place in Glasgow, the diving is being held in Edinburgh, which has hosted the Games twice in the past.

One person hoping to make a big splash there this time is Tom Daley. "He'll be defending his title," explains Balding. "It'll be really interesting for Tom. There's been a lot written about him, people questioning his motivation, his fitness, can he step up there? He's up against Matt Mitcham of Australia, who's his strongest competitor."

Balding will mostly be hanging out at the Tollcross International Swimming Centre in Glasgow, and will be keeping her eye on several swimmers, in particular Chad le Clos, the young South African whose father Bert made such an impact on viewers thanks to his emotional interview about his on during the 2012 Olympics.

"But there are some really strong swimmers from the UK, in particular from Scotland," claims Balding. "I hope Hannah Miley defends her medley title and then there's Michael Jamieson, who got the best result of all the swimmers at the Olympics with a silver medal. He's in there with a really good chance of getting Scotland's first gold in the pool."

Whatever happens, we're looking forward to 11 days of top-class competition, and hope a few more star performers become household names by the time the closing ceremony begins.

Commonwealth Games: Opening Ceremony, Wednesday, BBC1, 8.00pm

BEST OF THE REST

Monday

Tuesday
Hive Alive BBC2, 8pm
Chris Packham and Martha Kearney conclude their quest with Professor Adam Hart to explore the remarkable secrets of the lives and habits of bees. They also investigate the deadly mating ritual of a queen and look at how bees can aid medical research, as well as how people can help them in return.

Wednesday
All Star Mr & Mrs ITV, 8pm

Amazing Spaces Shed of the Year Channel 4, 8pm
New series. George Clarke presides over the 2014 Shed of the Year competition. In the first edition, focusing on the Unique and Eco categories, he explores a giant replica of a teapot, a Titanic museum, a cinema room, a shed made out of 5,000 wine bottles, and an egg-shaped studio and more.

Amazing Spaces Shed of the Year, Thursday, Channel 4, 8pm

Diamond Geezers
ITV, 9pm
Hatton Garden lies in Holborn, London, and has been the centre of London's jewellery trade since medieval times. The area houses numerous businesses, from skilled jewellery-makers to millionaire wheeler-dealers. This bling-tastic documentary focuses on some of the biggest characters who call the place home, including Michael Lynton, who has been creating bespoke pieces for more than 40 years. Others making their mark during the programme are Steve, a sole trader who makes a living from buying and selling gold and travels the country in search of his next big item.

Friday
On the Yorkshire Buses Channel 5, 8pm
A new school term starts and every bus in East Yorkshire Motor Services's fleet is needed, but a series of breakdowns means the engineers have their work cut out. Roadworks in Hull cause further delays and when passengers begin to complain, boss Peter Shipp calls a crisis meeting with his senior staff. Meanwhile, Scarborough drivers James and Steve go head to head in a sponsored eating challenge to raise money for a local hospice, tackling 12 burgers and a mound of fries washed down with milkshakes in just 40 minutes.

Big year for Suzuki 4x4s

By John Griffiths

Most of us know someone who has celebrated their silver, or even golden wedding: after all, 25 years or even 50 is something of a big deal these days.

But 44 years? Well that only makes sense if you're a maker of 4x4 cars, and it's 44 years since you made the first one. Like Suzuki, for example.

And it's an auspicious year for the relatively small Japanese company which is celebrating sales up by 17 per cent this year, putting it in the top 20 of the British car market for the first time ever.

Its first 4x4 was the LJ10 (never officially sold here) but it was in 1988 with the arrival of the first Vitara that Suzuki's reputation for value for money all-wheel drive cars was really established.

The compact 4x4 was cheap and cheerful by SUV standards, but still highly competent and, nearly three decades and many upgrades later, it remains popular with those who want all-weather ability without the size and expense of one of the lorry-like 4x4s.

The bad news is that the Vitara's story ends next year, but it will be replaced by a Nissan Juke-sized model currently code-named the IV-4.

At around the same time, Suzuki's baby, the Alto, and its slightly bigger sibling the Splash, are also being replaced by the all-new Celerio.

Few details of the IV-4 have yet been released: for instance which all-wheel drive system it will use as Suzuki, uniquely, has several. This, says the company, is because it designs the system to suit the car and the sort of tasks it is expected to perform.

One version of the Swift hatchback, for example, uses a viscous coupling which you don't even need to think about. It acts automatically, feeding power to the rear wheels virtually instantly if the front wheels start to slip.

It weighs just 65kg and is ideally suited to a 1.2-litre car as it performs its role of keeping you safer on slippery roads (or the odd foray onto field or rough track) without sapping much of the 94PS of power. That means little sacrifice in terms of fuel consumption or performance.

At prices from £14,159, it only has one real competitor, a version of Fiat's Panda, and you can't get the all-weather advantages of all wheel drive for as little money, or as cheap to run.

Serious

Its average fuel consumption is 51.3g/km, with CO2 emissions of 126g/km (10g/km higher than the two-wheel drive Swift) and a low insurance rating of group 11E. The 0 to 62mph sprint takes 13.4 seconds.

The Swift 4x4 sits 25mm higher on its suspension than its standard stablemate with metal deflector plates front and rear, recognising that some people will buy this car because they do actually need to use it on rough tracks.

If you're really serious about playing it rough, Suzuki's workhorse (or is that work pony?) is the Jimny, which uses much more traditional four-wheel drive systems but with an economical 1.3-litre engine.

Apart from beefy suspension and switchable two/four-wheel drive the Jimny's go anywhere ability is down to its low-range gearbox – something few rivals short of the much bigger, much more expensive SUVs can boast.

At £11,995 it's even a viable alternative to a big quadbike for farmers and other country dwellers and much cheaper to run than a 4WD SUV or pickup – and you still get home comforts such as air conditioning, a CD player, electric windows and airbags.

Suzuki's latest all wheel drive cars are the top versions of the SX4 S-Cross, with both 1.6 petrol and diesel options. It has a new 'ALLGRIP' system with four modes: auto, snow, sport and lock. At prices from £21,459 to £23,549, the S-Cross is a well-equipped and roomy competitor to some of the chunky-looking SUVs which don't have its all-surface abilities.

Suzuki isn't by any means a huge player in the global car industry, and has always prides itself on the packaging of small cars. It is also the one company which offers such a wide range of cars with the reassurance of four-wheel drive in affordable packages.

Wraps off Bentley special

Luxury car maker Bentley has pulled the wraps off its new racecar-inspired Continental GT3-R.

Taking inspiration from the firm's new GT3-spec competition machine, the GT3-R is said to blend high performance with Bentley's trademark luxury approach to motoring.

The GT3-R will be a rare beast, too. Just 300 models will be made, conveniently timed to coincide with Bentley's recent success at the second round of the Blancpain Endurance Series at Silverstone – taking a win in the first UK race for the company in 84 years.

All 300 examples of the Continental GT3-R will be hand-built in Crewe and finished in Bentley's motorsport division.

Bentley engineers have developed a retuned version of the firm's race-proven, high performance 4.0-litre twin-turbo V8 for the GT3-R.

Developing 580 horsepower together with a 100kg weight reduction and shorter gearing, the Continental GT3-R is the fastest-accelerating Bentley with a zero to 60mph sprint time of 3.6 seconds.

Tweaks to the car's all-wheel drive system and electronic stability control are said to further boost the car's performance over the standard car.

There's no word on price, but you can expect the limited edition GT3-R to be a significant sum given its extra performance and added exclusivity.

Comfort and technology figures high with new 500

The new Fiat 500 has gone on sale in the UK with important new style, comfort and technological enhancements.

A key new feature is the segment-first seven-inch TFT digital instrument display, developed in collaboration with Magneti Marelli, which seamlessly combines cutting-edge technology without disrupting the trademark aesthetics of the cabin.

Standard on 500S and Cult models (and optional on Lounge versions), the layout and execution of the speedometer, rev counter and trip computer will be familiar to anyone who has driven the current FIAT 500, but the centre of the display – which contains a digital image of the car – can be configured to show various trip computer readouts.

The new TFT instrument cluster also allows for a more prominent gear shift Indicator; highly visible warning messages and more detailed media player, telephone and navigation information readouts, including junction graphics and real-time traffic updates when equipped with a portable TomTom 2 Live satellite navigation system.

As a final touch, the TFT screen re-configures when the Sport button is activated on models equipped with 105hp 0.9 TwinAir Turbo engine.

The 2014 Fiat 500 is available to test drive.

King will ride out for his nation

BIRMINGHAM skipper Danny King has been named in Great Britain's starting line-up for their Monster Energy FM Speedway World Cup meeting this month.

The British side will face Australia, USA and Italy at King's Lynn on Saturday, July 26 - and King line-up alongside World Champion Tai Woffinden, former Brummies man Chris Harris and Simon Stead.

Great Britain boss Alun Rossiter said: "There's too much doom and gloom surrounding speedway and the British team in general, we've got the world champion in our team and in Harris, Stead and King they will represent their country with pride."

Starke warning of tough meeting

CRADLEY skipper Paul Starke says the home meeting with Coventry next Tuesday will be the toughest of the season at Monmore, writes Nigel Pearson.

The Heathens have been in rampant form in 2014, claiming several big wins as they aim to defend their National League title.

But they were beaten by Coventry at Brandon in April and are looking for some revenge in what promises to be a great night of racing.

Starke knows his side are in for a difficult night as arguably the two strongest sides in the third tier do battle. But with the Heathens high on confidence, he is backing his side to add three more points to their a National League tally.

Starke said: "Our season starts now really - we've got some tough meetings coming up and we need to show what we are made of."

"The meeting against Coventry is probably the biggest meeting of the season so far for us, and we are desperate to perform well. We know we are capable of getting all three points, and that is obviously what we are aiming for. We were really disappointed to lose at Coventry earlier in the year, but we are at home this time around and everyone has hit top form.

"We've really built up some momentum since then and everyone has been banging in big points regularly, so if they can do the same this week we should get the right result."

"Everyone is riding regularly and improving all the time, so I think we are probably a better team than we were in April."

"Coventry are a strong side with some good riders at this level so we can't afford to take anything for granted."

"But at the same time I'm confident we can come away with the win."

The following Tuesday, Heathens host their prestigious FAST Golden Hammer individual event with a bumper crowd expected.

And on Sunday, July 27, club legend Billy Hamill returns to the area for a special evening with supporters at the Copthorne Hotel, Brierley Hill. Tickets are still available, at £10, from the club shop or website.

New man Poco misses opener

ALBION signing Sebastian Pocognoli missed his new club's pre-season opener at the weekend.

The 26-year-old Belgian international defender Pocognoli, who has joined from Hannover 96 for an undisclosed fee became the Baggies' fourth summer signing after agreeing a three-year deal, plus a year's option in the club's favour.

Pocognoli, who has 12 Belgium caps, missed out on a World Cup place because of an end-of-season injury and was still sorting out his personal affairs on Saturday when Albion beat Bury 2-0 in a behind-closed-doors friendly.

Head coach Alan Irvine gave first run-outs to new signings Joleon Lescott, Craig Gardner and Chris Baird against the League Two side and made 10 changes at half-time.

Graham Dorrans and Saido Berahino scored the goals, both in the second-half, while away duo Craig Dawson and George Thorne also featured.

But Pocognoli's arrival continues the changing face of an Albion squad undergoing a reconstruct.

Irvine said: "Sebastien is an experienced left-back who has played at a high level for many years."

Irvine is satisfied at squad's first outing

Shrewsbury 1 Albion 2
BAGGIES new head coach Alan Irvine was satisfied enough with his squad's first public workout.

The game went ahead without a cluster of key figures including Gareth McAuley and Joleon Lescott.

The two central defenders are being protected to prevent calf muscle strains becoming anything more serious, but it is the yawning gap in Albion's attacking make-up which remains the principle focus of the club's recruitment concerns.

In an ideal world, and with a long trip to California beckoning tomorrow, Irvine would not have wanted to play Stephane Sessegnon, Victor Anichebe and Saido Berahino for 78 minutes.

But his options are such at the moment that he doesn't really have much choice.

Having cleaned out their front line at the end of last season, the Baggies have still got major work to do to find the offensive players out wide and down the centre that can turn a strained squad into a strong one.

As an introductory offer from the 'two-for-the-price-of-one' players Albion have recruited so far, this was satisfactory enough.

Multi-position pair Craig Gardner and Chris Baird were utilised for the second half, Gardner making several incursions down his favoured right side which should have brought further goals.

But he is a familiar figure. There was keener interest in Sebastian Pocognoli, the Belgium international given his first 45 minutes in an Albion shirt on only his second day at the club.

The 26-year-old international looks both an unfussy left-back and an effective one with a couple of quality crosses adding to a clear relish for a robust challenge.

Albion fans are now quite used to the realities of their budget and where that places the club in the Premier League food chain.

If the Baggies are scoring the type of goals they produced last night there will be few complaints. They were taken by Anichebe after 13 minutes and then Youssef Mulumbu - benefiting from a sumptuous touch by Sessegnon.

But both goals were constructed by the kind of first-touch passing of which this team is so capable but which went strangely absent at times last season.

In between, Shrewsbury broke away to equalise on 30 minutes through Scott Vernon, but the newly-constructed League Two outfit had to work hard in the opening 45 minutes to restrict Albion to just two. It got a little fractured after that.

Welborn will get another crack at the title

Jason Welborn is getting another crack at the British title on the same bill as Tyson Fury

ROWLEY Regis' Jason Welborn has joined Walsall's Martin Gethin in getting a second crack at the British title on the Tyson Fury-Dereck Chisora show.

Big-hitter Welborn, thwarted in his effort by Frankie Gavin at welterweight in January 2013, steps up to light middle to face champion Liam Smith.

The reigning Midlands title holder is stepping in for Navid Mansouri, who has pulled out with a back injury, at the Manchester Arena on July 26.

Welborn said: "I feel for Mansouri, but that's boxing. I know all about Liam Smith. I have sparred him before and I'm confident. He's no Frankie Gavin."

"I knew when I faced Frankie that the odds were stacked in his favour. He's a quality boxer with slick movement. He's up there with the best in the world. "Liam Smith has had his opponents hand-picked and won the title that way. He drew with Terry Carruthers, who I stopped. He's not in Frankie's league. It's at a higher weight but, since I stepped up, I have felt comfortable and strong. I have worked my up to this and it's my time to bring that belt back to the Black Country." Gethin will also get an immediate chance to reclaim the British lightweight title.

Schoolboy Mongan in the medals

BLACK Country boy Jerry Mongan took home a bronze medal from the AIBA European Schoolboys Championships in Hungary.

The 14-year-old battled valiantly against the World No 1 at 54kg, the Russian Emin Khataev, who snuck the verdict despite coming under fire in the second round.

Mongan, the fighting pride of Priory Park Boxing Club in Dudley, skipped the England side and defeated Ireland's Michael McDonagh with guile and pressure to set up the meeting.

The reigning ABA Schoolboys champion's star is rising at international level, with the new season on the horizon in the autumn.

Villa and Baggies both get TV boost

VILLA'S first home game of the season against Newcastle has been picked for television coverage, while four Albion's fixtures have also been moved to help the schedules.

Villa are on the box six times before the end of November.

They kick off at Villa Park on August 23, when they host the Magpies on BT Sport.

Villa's trip to Liverpool on September 13 will be shown on Sky Sports (5.30pm), along with the away game with QPR on October 27 (8pm).

The broadcaster will also show Paul Lambert's men in home games with Manchester City (October 4, 5.30pm), Tottenham (Sunday, November 2, 4pm) and Southampton (Monday November 22, 8pm).

Albion have to wait until September 28, when they host Burnley at the Hawthorns, for their first live Sky game.

But the cameras will be back on Monday, October 20 when they host Manchester United and on Sunday, November 9 when Newcastle are the visitors to their ground.

The Baggies are then on BT Sport later that month on November 29 when they entertain Arsenal.

Brummies are shut down

WITH deep regret the British Speedway Promoters' Association can confirm the closure of Birmingham Brummies with immediate effect.

Great efforts have been made by several people to ensure the team could continue racing until the end of the season but sadly this has not proved possible.

BSPA Chairman Alex Harkness said: "I'm gutted about this outcome, but sadly there is no alternative."

"When I met with the loyal group of Birmingham supporters last week I believed there was genuine hope, but sadly things have changed."

"As an association, we have done everything possible to try and ensure the continuation of speedway but with no promoter willing to take the club forward I'm afraid the club is now closed for business."

Dawson offer is derisory, say the Albion

A second Burnley offer for Craig Dawson has been dismissed as "derisory" by Albion as they continue to play hard ball in the transfer market.

The newly-promoted Premier League outfit want the Baggies England Under 21 defender and have been back in with an offer which crept marginally over the £1.5m mark.

But Burnley will have to add another million to that just to get Albion to the negotiating table as The Hawthorns club continues to rebuff all attempts to blow further holes in a squad still under-manned for the season ahead. That stance mirrors the club's reaction to Derby's efforts to take George Thorne on a permanent deal despite both the midfielder and Dawson lodging transfer requests this summer.

Thorne and Dawson featured in Tuesday night's first public pre-season friendly, a 2-1 victory at Shrewsbury, and are due to leave on Albion's American tour.

Head coach Alan Irvine again stressed afterwards that he wants both players to stay and on the latest Dawson offer said: "My first signing after I came in was Joleon Lescott - that was so we could have four centre-backs that I feel comfortable with."

"And right now we have four centre-backs I am comfortable with. I'm not wanting to lose any of those centre-backs. Craig is on the way up. He's played for England under-21s, he's 24-years-old and he's not a player we want to lose."

"I think he will stay with us. He's going with us to the States and it'll take a very good bid for anyone to make the club accept it. He is an important player for us and if we were to lose Craig we would need to replace him because we would need another up-and-coming centre-half who has played in the Premier League and I'm not sure where you find those."

But it's not getting any easier for Albion to make the signings they need - especially in the attacking areas where a long pursuit of Monaco striker Emmanuele Riviere appears to have ended in failure.

Reports are claiming, more strongly than ever, that he will sign for Newcastle and Irvine conceded Albion need to remain patient during this summer's transfer market.

Baggies look to seal deal

ALBION will make a fresh attempt to strike a deal with neighbours Aston Villa for Alan Hutton this week in a bid to fill another vacancy in the club's summer rebuild.

But Liverpool prospect Andre Wisdom has emerged as a rival target if the two Midlands rivals cannot agree terms over Scottish international Hutton.

He has been in virtual exile under Paul Lambert at Villa and the Baggies are ready to pounce as the 29-year-old reaches the last year of a four-year deal worth £35,000 a week.

But it's a sale Lambert might have welcomed six months ago, owner Randy Lerner's decision to put the club up for sale has changed the climate at Villa.

With Lambert desperately short of transfer funds, the chance of the first-team door opening again for Hutton is a fresh element as is Villa's anxiety about selling a player to such a close rival.

The fate of the deal could also be complicated by the exit of Villa CEO Paul Faulkner recently which has left Villa without an experienced figure in transfer dealings.

Senderos 'will plug the gap'

PAUL Lambert has backed Philippe Senderos to plug the gaping gap in Villa's defence.

The claret and blues shipped 66 goals last season and boss Lambert believes Senderos will be a key addition to his backline.

The 29-year-old was part of the Switzerland World Cup squad.

YELTZ WORK FOR THEIR FIRST WIN

Halesowen 3 Romulus 1

HALESOWEN claimed a hard-earned, yet promising win over former league rivals Romulus, as two late goals were enough to seal the game.

The Yeltz featured nine of the 11 that started against Belper on the final day of the season, with Iyseden Christie and Joe Hull giving way for new signing Joel Kettle and Peter Till. Romulus featured ex-Yeltz shot stopper Paul Evans and started new signing Danico.

It wasn't long before the Yeltz showed their superiority in this game as they took the lead seven minutes in.

Aaron Griffiths' corner ball was headed across the face of goal by former Coles Lane resident Joel Kettle, and Ben Haseley was quickest to react as he stuck his foot out and directed the ball into the net.

Threatening

However, as the game went on, Romulus started to look threatening, and the Yeltz were punished for poor defending on 35 minutes, as Scott Meer hit the ball deep into the Yeltz penalty area, and Danico came in the front of the Yeltz backline and dived down to head the ball past Sargeant and get the Roms back in the game.

The highlight of the first 30 minutes of the second half was the unexpected drinks break on 75 minutes, as somehow the temperature broke the 25c mark.

However, the drinks

Football

break seemed to help the Yeltz, as Aaron Griffiths brought the ball down on the edge of the 18 yard box, turned and smashed the ball through the bundle of players in the box and into the bottom left hand corner.

Halesowen claimed a third goal late on, as Yeltz sub Robby Thompson-Brown dinked the ball over Evans and then tapped the ball into an empty net to humiliate the former Yeltz keeper.

Romulus were nearly gifted a goal by the Yeltz in the closing stages, as Joel Kettle headed the ball back towards goal, while substitute keeper Sam Pearson was in position to catch the ball, and he just manage to get back and push the ball just wide of the post.

While the Yeltz claimed the win, they still have aspects of their game to improve before the start of the season.

Halesowen: Matt Sargeant, Kristian Green, Asa Charlton, Neil Mackenzie, Curtis Tilt, Joel Kettle, Elliott Turner, Tom Tonks, Peter Till, Ben Haseley, Aaron Griffiths.
